1 optimization

In mathematics, an optimization problem is to maximize or minimize a real function f by choosing appropriate input values. The function f can depend on one or more independent variables.

1.1 The Nelder-Mead Simplex Procedure

References